JONATHAN ARBELY
Fullstack Designer

„Make overachieving a habit.“

👋 Hello

I'm Jonathan, a freelance developer & designer

For the past nine years I've been working as a freelance full stack developer, product designer (UI/UX/print & product) and consultant and have joined and assisted different companies in the region and abroad on a multitude of projects. In addition to my specific professional skills I offer a broad general knowledge and interest of the digital space, hardware and how the internet works that I can apply to finding creative and fitting solutions to different problems. Sharing feedback openly and bringing a new perspective into projects and teams I join is common practice for me. Crafting pixel perfect designs and writing clean, maintainable code are a matter of course for me.

My most recent projects show the diverse spectrum of skills that I have to offer.
